To Live a Day at a Time

As I see it, to live a day at a time means to accept the happiness which each day brings without spoiling it that I may not be able to enjoy the pleasures which I supposed the years had in store for me. It means to do that bit of my task which is within my power today without worrying whether I shall be able to finish it, and leaving it in God's hands to make what use of it He can. It means bearing the days suffering, if suffering there is to be, in the strength that the day brings, without wondering how I shall endure the more severe trials that may come, but believing that 'as thy days, so shall thy strength be' – Leslie J Tizard, Facing Life and Death, (George Allen and Unwin), 1959 p.162

Signs of Hope

Yes there is even death.

But there can always be a rebirth of love.

Wake to the choices you make as to how to live now.

Today, breathe.

Listen, behind the factory noises of your panic

The birds are singing again

The sky is clearing,

Spring is coming,

And we are always encompassed by Love.

Open the windows of your soul

And though you may not be able to touch across the empty square, Sing.

PRAYER: IN RESPONSE TO COVID-19

God of Love and Mercy, We pray for our world - for all of us, each one now in some way impacted by COVID-19: but especially for those persons who are ill, those who have lost loved ones and those whose personal and work lives have been severely disrupted by the reach of this virus.

We give thanks for the tender care of the sick by doctors, nurses and health care workers, for the generous and willing service of volunteers and for the imagination and dedication of researchers seeking a cure.

We are grateful for those who share wise advice with us; those whose work creates healthy environments for us; those who put our needs before theirs, our safety before theirs, our well-being before theirs, may we each be supportive of one another, considerate of one another and generous to one another in this difficult and uncertain time.

We ask this in the name of Jesus. Amen. -
